

NATION-WIDE TERROR CONSPIRACY REVEALED BY ARRESTS IN CLEVELAND

ANARCHIST BOMB PLOT UNEARTHED

Conspiracy is Like
One Exposed Last
Summer in Nation.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)
CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 29.—Discovery of a radical plot to spread terror throughout the nation by another series of bomb explosions
next spring was announced by the police here today following the arrest last night of five men and one woman, suspected of having planned
the destruction of the Central police station.

Believing they are members of the anarchistic circle that has been working in more than 100 cities,
the police questioned the group all night in an effort to learn details
of their plans or the extent of their organization.

The arrests were made in four si-multaneous raids, following information that an attempt was to be made to bomb Central police station here. One of the men is believed by the police to have been active in bombing Mayor Harry I. Davis' home
June 2, last.

With the prisoners the police
captured a large quantity of high explosives, one complete bomb, several incomplete bombs, a number of automatic pistols and a supply of ammunition and much anarchistic literature.

The police declared the bombs
were similar to those used in the bombing of Mayor Davis' home.
They believe the arrests will lead to apprehensions in other cities in connection with the country-wide bomb outrage which occurred last May and June.

Detectives were sent from here
last night and today to co-operate with police in other cities.

BELGIAN ROYALTY HAVE BUSY DAY AT WASHINGTON

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—With a list of engagements that filled
every hour of the day, King Albert,
Queen Elizabeth and Crown Prince
Leopold started early this morning
upon the activities of the second day's visit of the Belgian royal family to Washington.

The day's program included a journey to Mount Vernon on the Mayflower, the presidential yacht,
accompanied by Vice President Marshall and other high officials. At the tomb of Washington the ruler of the Belgians was to pay tribute to the founder of the American republic.

During the morning the king and queen and Duke of Brabant were to visit the national Red Cross headquarters to express the gratitude of the Belgian people for the service rendered by the Red Cross during the war.

The remainder of the forenoon
was to be devoted to visits to the bureau of engraving and the navy yard with an hour set apart for engagements King Albert might care to accept.

A formal dinner in honor of the distinguished visitors will be given
tonight by the secretary of state.

FIRE LOSS $60,000
CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 29.—Fire
of unknown origin this morning brought a loss of $100,000 to the Astrup Awning Company, destroying awnings valued at $60,000, a score of automobiles and a two story frame building. Three hours work
by firemen saved a number of homes
in the vicinity.

Harley Endorses the "We Point With Pride" Administration of Lima

And this is what they point with pride to—take a look at your expensive reservoir, that has cost $250,000, and HAS BEEN TURNED INTO COW PASTURE! Do you want any more Gang Rule?

JUDGE KLINGER PUTS QUIETUS ON THE "CORPORATION" CHARGE MADE AGAINST BURKHARDT BY G. O. P. GANG

The blackest eye yet handed to the republican gang
of Lima, which seeks to continue its high-handed management of this city through the induction into office of Colonel John Harley, as its hand-picked candidate for Mayor, was given by Judge William Klinger Tuesday evening at a democratic rally held on the south side, and which was attended by so many voters that many even remained in the street to catch what words they could.

Judge Klinger vigorously, and without waste of words, laid bare the pernicious activities of the republican gang and held up to ridicule and shame the dirty mud-slinging campaign they have made upon Frank Burkhardt.

Driven to the wall, knowing they were going down to defeat and catching at every straw, the gang
had consistently and without shame,
attempted to convince the voters of Lima that Frank Burkhardt, a good,
clean, fair citizen of Lima is "owned" by the Ohio Electric, because he happened to be a railroad man making an honest wage every month by travelling the interurban lines of the company (which is in no way connected with public utilities in Lima).

Judge Klinger's speech was the keynote of the entire campaign and sent the large crowd away convinced thoroughly of the dirtiness of the campaign put on by the gang,
which stops at absolutely nothing
to retain control of Lima.

Other speakers made strong impressions but Judge Klinger's address went straight into the hearts of every one of his hearers. The Judge threw a shaft of light upon the gang's workings, showing up their campaign as no other medium
has during the fight.

Judge Strikes Hard
"If the corporations of the United States have become so pernicious
and menacing to the citizenship of the country as to disqualify a man
from holding office, merely because he has been in the employ of that corporation, then it is time that the American people do away with corporations," Judge Klinger said.

"It is an insult to every man in this room and every other man employed by a corporation to say, that simply because he works for a corporation he is crooked and unfit to hold a public office. If this is true 70 per cent of the men in this city
are not qualified to hold office.

"Regardless of whether or not a man is employed by a corporation,
it is his moral fibre and stamin-

been on the bench. However, as the Republicans are practicing the same tactics as two years ago,
when they fooled the voters by
erecting a straw man called,
"Socialism," I am doing my best
to defeat them.

Preaching False Doctrines
"Those men who are now raising
the cry of 'Harley or Bolshevism,'
do not believe what they teach.
They are simply trying to 'buffalo'
the voters into flocking to the standard of their candidate, as they did in 1917, when so many Democrats deserted Douglas.

"The bug-a-boo of Bolshevism
which they have erected is another man of straw, with which to fool
the voters. Two years ago, when the cry of Socialism was raised, I made the prediction that Blank
would only poll 50 per cent of the votes, which the Republicans were saying he would poll. And I make the same prediction tonight. It is only a scarecrow, which the old machine is waving in front of the voters' eyes.

"This condition of unrest, this mania called, 'Bolshevism,' is simply the outcome and result of un-American practices. This party which now waves the American flag and shouts about patriotism, is the same party which backed the High Protective Tariff Barons. It was these men who shipped the foreign laborers into this country
by the thousands, to displace American labor. It is this class which has striven to bring the standard of the American laboring man

down to that of the ignorant immigrants. These ignorant foreigners were brought to America to labor and to slave. No effort was made to Americanize them.
They were allowed to mingle
only with the criminal and lower classes of America. The result has been an unrest which is called 'Bolshevism,' and which although a serious question can and must be settled by a sane usage of the ballot by the American people."

Frank Burkhardt and Elmer Mc-Clain both made their customary heart-to-heart talks, which made splendid impressions.

DEPARTMENT STORE HEAD
ORDERED TO RETURN $2.50
BY LONDON PROFITEER BOARD

H. Gordon Selfridge
A profiteering committee,
sitting in London, has ordered the Selfridge department store
to refund $2.50 on a coat for a five-year-old girl, which was sold for $12. After retreating from the firm of Marshall
Field & Co., in Chicago, H.
Gordon Selfridge went to London and founded the first big department store in England.

THIRTY NATIONS MEET IN LABOR INTERNATIONAL

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—More than thirty nations are represented
here today for the opening of the International Labor Conference,
created by the treaty at Versailles
for the improvement and standardization of labor conditions throughout the world.

In opening the conference at noon, Secretary Wilson said he would designate the assembly as
the "conference in the process of being organized," and by this interpretation he believes he abides by his contention that only those states which have ratified the treaty
can participate in the official conference.

The program for today as outlined by the organizing committee
called for addresses by Secretar-
Wilson and John Barrett, director of the Pan-American Union; the report of Arthur Fontaine, of France,
chairman of the committee, and organization of the assembly.

The dispute over the admission
of the German and Austrian delegates was to be taken up today.
Divided sentiment on this point was found among the delegates.

After the conference session,
nominations for officers of the conference and the secretarial board will be chosen at separate meetings of delegates representing governments,
employers and workers. Officers will be elected tomorrow.

The first question to come before the conference when it settles down
for business on Friday will be the eight hour day and the 48 hour week.

RAILWAY ORDERS VOTING ON STRIKE TO AID STEEL MEN

Doctors Disagree
as to Recurrence
of Flu Plague

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)
NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 29.—

Because of the scarcity of specific knowledge of influenza the American health convention in general session here today had no definite plan for the recurrence of the epidemic this year and approved the plan of Dr. Allen B. Freeman, Ohio State health commissioner, to center their efforts to prevent complications resulting from the disease.

Several delegates voiced the opinion that the epidemic would appear
this winter and that a comprehensive plan for preventing it could not be detailed until more definite information was available.

Six new directors of the association were elected at the general
session of all bodies last night.
They included Dr. John A. Kappleman, Canton.

WASHINGTON IS STILL HOPEFUL IN COAL CRISIS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Federal Fuel Administrator Harry A. Garfield discussed the threatened strike
of bituminous coal miners today
with Secretary Tumulty at the White House. He was summoned here from Williams College of which he is president.

Dr. Garfield who still has authority to function as fuel administrator,
said he was in close touch with the strike situation and expressed confidence that a settlement would be reached without a walkout of the miners.

Still Hopeful

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Hopeful that the strike of bituminous miners, called for Saturday, may yet be averted officials turned their attention today to Indianapolis where the executive board of the United Mine Workers of America was called to meet. While some officials were not optimistic, in other quarters
there was evidenced a distinct feeling that the miners' answer to President Wilson's appeal would be favorable.

Should the executive board decide adversely on the request of the president that the strike be called off,
the government, it was indicated
after yesterday's cabinet meeting at which the situation was canvassed,
was prepared to deal with any situation that might arise.

HINES HEAR DEMANDS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—The
first wage demands of railroad employees to reach the stage of decision
since the strike of shopmen precipitated a general labor crisis last summer were up for discussion today between Director General Hines and President W. G. Lee and the strike committee of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

Mr. Hines, it is expected, will be guided in his decision by the policy
laid down by President Wilson under which no general wage increase
would be given until the government had a chance to reduce the cost of living. Another important question is that of time and a half pay for overtime.

"VALLEY OF ROSES"
The valley of Roses, Bulgaria,
where 7,000 acres of trees are under cultivation for the distilling of attar of roses, yielded in 1919,
3,500 pounds of rose-leaves.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 29.—Officials of the four railroad brother-hoods and shop crafts today started taking a strike vote of the 1,500 employees of the union railroad who operate trains in steel plants of the Pittsburgh district. The result of the vote will not be known until next Sunday and in event the men
favor a strike they will be called out
in sympathy with the striking steel workers, according to the brotherhood executives.

UNCHANGED IN MAHONING.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 29.—
Operating condition were unchanged
today at the Mahoning Valley's steel plants, the same number of departments, estimated at 50 per cent,
continuing to operate. Observers reported more men entering the mills, including transportation
workers and boiler-makers, though union leaders maintain that their rank is holding and deny the charge that strikers are heckling
speakers at meetings of the idle
men.

FOSTER AT CANTON.

CANTON, Oct. 29.—Following a night of quiet around the steel plants, interest this morning in the Canton strike situation turned to the scheduled address of W. Z. Foster, strike leader, who is to speak in Engine Hall this afternoon. Police say they do not anticipate any trouble at the meeting.

Reports from the plants which have been crippled by the strike are
that more men went to work this morning in answer to appeals by the managers to men to return under promised protection of the state, county and city.

GENERAL STRIKE THREAT.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 29.—
While Governor Roberts, of Tennessee, was trying to arrange a conference here of officials of the Knoxville Street Railway Company
and its striking employees eight thousand union workers in the city
were voting today on a resolution calling for a general sympathetic strike to begin Saturday.

In the meantime fifteen hundred troops, federal and state were held in readiness to quell any attempt at disorder.

The presence of soldiers is resented by union leaders, and the strike resolution declares the walk-
out, if voted, shall remain effective
until the troops are withdrawn.

WEST VA. STRIKE.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 29.—
Forty thousand union miners, employed in 466 mines in West Virginia will quit work next Saturday if the general strike order is enforced.
Their idleness will cut the coal production of the state 3,400,000 tons
a month. These figures given out by coal mining interests are disputed by union leaders who claim 54,000 members of their organization in the state.

FARMERS NOT RADICALS.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Oct. 29.—
On record as strangely opposed to "certain radical elements" seeking to tear down the government, delegates to the Farmers' National Congress, in session here, considered
today additional resolutions bearing on the industrial situation. A number of these resolutions, including
possibly several relating to relations between the farmers and the American Federation of Labor, will come before the congress tomorrow for action, today having been set aside
for addresses by prominent agricultural experts and state commissioners of agriculture.

OHIO WEATHER

Cloudy tonight; Thursday unsettled and probably rain.

UNITED MINE WORKERS IN SOLEMN CONCLAVE ON FINAL STRIKE DETAILS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 29.— Executives of the United Mine Workers of America, met here today to take final action on President Wilson's appeal that the nation-wide strike of bituminous coal miners ordered for November 1, be called off.

With but sixty hours left before the time for stoppage of production of the nation's fuel supply, the meeting assumes the character of the most weighty one which has yet been held in connection with the miners' demands for a six hour day, a five day week and sixty per cent increase in wages. Out of it will come the final word of the miners on the situation.

Representatives of coal miners in all parts of the country were here today, for while it originally was planned to hold only a meeting of the executive board of the organization at this time, in view of the demand of President Wilson, last Saturday, that the strike order be rescinded, Acting President John L. Lewis broadened the scope of the conference. As a consequence 25 district presidents of the mine workers, the full scale committee composed of 32 members, and the board of executives comprising a representative from each of the 29 districts, are in attendance. All of those present, it was stated, will have a vote.

The delegates entered the conference this morning sober-faced and with a full realization of the seriousness of their undertaking. Not a man among them but was aware that the national and state governments were lined solidly against them and that the governments are backed by wide-spread public opinion that the miners are in the wrong. On every hand they have been met with expressions of the grave consequences attaching to the threatened strike on the verge of winter.

Discontinuance of the production of coal would more effectively tie up the industries of the country than would a strike of any other body of workers, and in addition such action would cause untold suffering among millions of the country's inhabitants. Despite the frantic efforts of the railroads to furnish extra cars to the mines for transportation of what fuel is on hand at the source, it will be impossible to provide an adequate supply for even a short period.

DEATH TOLL 21 IN LAKE DISASTER

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)

MUSKOGON, Mich., Oct. 29.—Twenty-one persons were officially unaccounted for early today and fourteen were known to have lost their lives in the sinking yesterday of the Crosby line Lake steamer Muskogon which was driven into the pier by the gale she had battled across Lake Michigan from Milwaukee, and pounded to pieces by the heavy sea. Coroner James Blumle and Crosby line officials stated they believed all the missing had perished, the captain was unable to give the names of those unaccounted for but thought they included four of the crew and three passengers.

With calmer seas today officials began searching the hull of the vessel which sank from sight in fifty feet of water last night. Some of the missing, it was believed, had been trapped between decks when the steamer rammed the pier. Coast guards and anxious relatives and friends spent all of last night patrolling the wreck-strewn beach waiting for the sea to give up its dead but only six bodies had been recovered this morning.

BLANCHARD RIVER RAPIDLY RISING

According to latest advices arriving in Lima from Ottawa, that city is in great danger of a flood, and Wednesday morning there were numerous houses under water. Blanchard is reported to be rapidly rising. As a result of the heavy rains of Sunday and Monday, sections of Putnam county were flooded, but it was not until Tuesday evening that the city of Ottawa was in any immediate danger.

Preparations are being made to stay the water, if possible, and the meanwhile citizens residing near the river are preparing to move to the stream continues to rise.

Chicago Fighting Old H. C. L. by Wearing Wooden Shoes

This photograph was not taken in Holland or Belgium or France. It was made in Chicago. Old friend H. C. L. is the answer. Shoes cost so much that a number of Chicago people got together and decided to do away with leather until leather came down to their level. The result was wooden shoes. They say that tanners, leather dealers, shoe manufacturers, wholesalers, middlemen and retailers are permitted to look at this picture. The wooden shoes shown in this photograph cost $1.25 a pair.

FEDERAL AGENTS TO ABSOLUTELY BAN THE BOOZE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Armed with the drastic provisions of the prohibition enforcement act, which became effective as to war-time prohibition with passage by the senate of the measure over the president's veto late yesterday, agents of the bureau of internal revenue today took up the task of making absolute the ban on the manufacture and sale of liquor.

The few remaining saloons in the United States were legally open today for the sale only of beverages containing less than one half of one per cent alcohol. Sale, as well as manufacture, of beverages of more than that amount alcoholic content laid the saloon keeper as well as the brewer or distiller liable to heavy penalties. But despite its drastic provisions, the law could not touch the man who had stored up a supply in his own home for his own use.

The internal revenue bureau will be backed up by the department of justice, which will conduct prosecution from evidence obtained by the bureau's agents.

Stanley of Kentucky, Democrat, opposing, and Senator J. C. W. Beckham, of Kentucky, and Thomas S. Martin, of Virginia, Democrats, for, were paired with Senator James A.

N. Y. Drug Clerks Threaten Strike

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—A strike that will vitally affect New York's millions was voted early today by representatives of 4,500 drug clerks. After an all-night meeting the men voted 1,430 to 70 to walk out during the week, leaving the date to be determined by their officers. Union officials said that the men involved comprised ninety per cent of all the drug clerks in the city.

The clerks demand an eight hour day, a closed shop and an average increase in wages of 35 per cent. Soda clerks, cashiers and other employees in drug stores are included in the union memberships.

GOMER SCHOOL IS FIRST TO REPORT

School children of Gomer are out-doing themselves in the Roosevelt Memorial fund, according to a report sent in by the school principals yesterday to county school superintendent Arganbright. The campaign was just started Monday morning. Tuesday the children had used up their quota of receipts books, and the teachers sent into the superintendent's office for more books. Yet Gomer is the only town in the county to make a report, but the fund is also being well taken care of in other school districts. A complete report will be made by the teachers probably the latter part of the week.

Hohenzollern's New Home Held To Be Unlucky

DOORN, Holland, Oct. 29.—There is a superstition at Doorn, that the house at Doorn, recently purchased by the former kaiser, is unlucky for its male occupants. It is said that the house has generally been occupied by widows, the men having died after a few years of occupancy. The Baroness Van Hemsma, who sold the house to the kaiser, was a widow.

AWARDED JUDGMENT

ISSUES RULES TO PREVENT DANGER FROM ELECTRICITY

State Fire Marshal Says Devices Must Be Inspected Before Being Used.

ORDER ON SWITCHES

Several Deaths as Result of Bare Wires and Cuts in Dark.

Before any lighting, heating, or electrical cooking device is turned on in a private home or before electrical connection is made for any building, a thorough inspection of the wiring and equipment must be made by the company furnishing the service to see that it conforms to the safety and fire protection laws of the state according to a ruling issued by State Fire Marshal T. Alfred Fleming.

Another important ruling just issued by the state fire marshal requires the removal of electric switches from dark inaccessible places in order to protect workmen handling these switches and to eliminate a fire hazard.

"There have been several deaths in Ohio this fall due to housewives touching electric wires that had not been installed in a safe manner," says the state fire marshal in a statement issued in connection with the new ruling. "Two workmen were killed by touching electric switches that were not properly guarded. It is for this reason that the new rulings are issued."

BEGY'S MUSTARINE FOR SORE THROAT AND CHEST COLDS

Just rub on Begy's Mustarine if you want to get rid of that cold on the chest, bronchitis, pleurisy or sore throat in double quick time. It cannot blister and you can get a big yellow box of this original, red mustard plaster; improvement at a very small price.

A box is equal to 50 blistering mustard plasters and with it you can stop toothache, headache and earache in 10 minutes. Prescribed by doctors for 10 years. Nothing so quick and effective as Begy's Mustarine for rheumatism, neuralgia and lumbago.

Be sure it's Begy's Mustarine, the original in the yellow box. The 60 cent size contains two and one-half times as much as the 30 cent size. It's great for chilblains and frost-bite.

Money back if it isn't by far the best mustard preparation on the market.

means that before any lighting, heating or other electrical device is turned on, the fire marshal's department must be satisfied that the wiring and appurtenances are right; that buttons, cutoffs and switches are not where children's hands can reach them and that there are no bare wires of flimsy drop cords to flirt an invitation to meet death. The owner must make the improvements where required.

Relative to ruling on switches, the statement issued by the marshal says: "Often the means of turning on and off the heavy current is placed in a dark or almost inaccessible place, where it is impossible to see whether the current is on or off. If the power is not shut off, a touch will take the life of the workman. Men at Youngstown and Toledo have already paid the penalty for the unprotected switch or cut off."

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating. No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cured with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 10c and 25c.

All Behind Burkhardt

THE THINKING MAN, the one who goes through life with the slogan "Never fool yourself," knows down in his heart that Frank Burkhardt is going to receive the ballots of the solid, thinking people of the city—the ones who own their own homes, look to the future and are desirous that Lima step forward, not backward.

The situation in the Lima municipal campaign, analyzed, is just this: Burkhardt will get the solid Democratic vote, he will get a large share of the republican vote and he will receive a strong share of the labor vote.

Burkhardt has been a laborer, is one now. He is not burdened, as the "knocker" has tried to make the people believe, with the fact that he has worked for the Ohio Electric. For he has worked for other railroads and never in his life has he performed a public act of which he has a right to be ashamed.

He has given his promise that when he assumes the position of Mayor of Lima that he will play the game squarely and fairly; that no corporation will get any concessions at the expense of the people, and that he will give his best efforts to make Lima a better and greater city.

Lima can not afford now to take chances with Socialism. The working man has the same interests as the man who sits at a desk—he must have a Mayor who will play absolutely fair, will be under obligations to no organization and will be on the job at all times. Such a man is Frank Burkhardt and the Times believes that next Tuesday he is going to get a large majority. He will be the next Mayor of Lima.

His Children's Comrade

ONE of the most characteristic phases of Col. Roosevelt's life was his devotion to his family and the friendly and kindly interest he took in the development of his children.

In the recently published "Letters of Theodore Roosevelt to His Children," we are given an insight into the fatherly devotion of the statesman to his children. The letters are not filled with didactic admonitions. Neither are they sermons. One finds a loving father writing of family affairs and events near and dear to the hearts of children. Many of the letters are illustrated with drawings.

"The point is," says the Kansas City Star, "Roosevelt made himself the comrade of his children. There is no condescension in his letters, even to a 5-year-old. He doesn't write about the same things to young Quentin that he writes to Sir George Otto Trevelyan. But he writes about things that interest them both. So the children looked to him as their most valued playmate, friend and companion. The parents who can accomplish this relationship have pretty nearly solved the problem of bringing up children."

Since Col. Roosevelt's death scores of incidents illustrating the versatility of the man have been printed. Hardly a magazine and periodical that has not printed an article depicting a new phase of his aptitude for varied efforts and duties. The letters to his children bring out a side of his career of which the public had little knowledge.

Soviet Rule in America

IF THE results from the Buffalo, N. Y., primaries serve as an index to the strength of Soviet party in America, then the citizenship of this country has little to fear from this new gang of discontents which has grown out of the Socialist convention in Chicago several months ago.

Less than 300 votes for its candidates were polled by the Soviet or Communist party. The total vote in the city was approximately 54,000.

This first appearance of the Communist party ticket on the American ballot while not offering any occasion for alarm, nevertheless must not lightly be considered.

There is a vicious element busy in this country. Under the guise of helping the so-called "down-trodden," it seeks to elevate its own principles and delirious sane and sensible government. The Communist doctrines are taught openly on our streets and our public halls.

The Buffalo primary vote for the time being may not indicate a growing strength among this new class of disturbers but it should serve as a warning that unless the unruly agitators are suppressed, one of these days there may be a far different and more amazing story to tell.

GOOD EVENING—There are a lot of people who are not happy unless they are unhappy.

If we were to make a flight across the continent in an airplane we'd keep about three miles high all the time for fear we might see the headlines of some newspaper telling of seven aviators having met their death on the trip.

The newspaper says that Mrs. Sarah Bernhardt is to celebrate the 60th anniversary of her career soon now, and we suppose she will make another farewell tour along with it.

We have some ambitions, perhaps, but none of them comes under the head of making a non-stop flight across the continent.

The main trouble with too many people in an automobile, is that they try to take an hour's ride in 15 minutes.

There are a lot of things we'll admit we haven't the nerve to do, chief of them being to go on a hunger strike.

HAPPY THOUGHT. If men put in as little time knocking as they do boasting, they would have 10 times as much time for work.

The Times' Family Doctor

HOW SCIENCE NOW TREATS THE STRANGE "LEUCAEMIA" DISEASE

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG
A. B., M. A., M. D. (John Hopkins University)

Good, red blood is generally desired by most individuals. It is usually the token of health.

To be fat and have a red face with flushed cheeks does not necessarily mean the best health.

Often men and women, who work and worry, fail to use their muscles, who are over weight, apoplectic and with high blood pressure "look the picture of health," with their pink cheeks and cherry lips. They may even be "plethoric," with too many red blood corpuscles or "phlegmatic" with an excess of leucocytes or white blood corpuscles.

Anaemia is a state of the blood with too few red corpuscles or red corpuscles that are not full of red stuff, the hemoglobin.

Leucemia, on the other hand, is a blood disease, with an excess of white blood corpuscles, a large spleen and general decline in health. The liver may also be enlarged, the victim weak and nervous and the glands of the neck as large as peas.

Injuries to the spleen by corsets, belts, bandages, broken ribs and other accidents are among the causes of leucemia, infectious diseases, alcohol and poisons have also been the origin of this disorder.

A Puzzling Case

When treated with an effervescent mixture of citric acid, acetamide, bicarbonate of soda, caffeine and bromide of soda one victim of leucemia showed improvement. Another patient with leucemia has just been reported. An analysis of her blood showed that she had nearly a normal amount of red corpuscles. Each 13 drops of blood contained 4,200,000 red corpuscles, but instead of 5,000 white corpuscles there were 141,000 of them. She could not be given quinine, arsenic, acetamide or the other remedies available, not agree with her peculiar disposition.

The patient's inability to tolerate the treatment drove the doctors to experiment with other chemicals to save her life. Through the courtesy of Dr. David I. Macht, of Johns Hopkins University, a quantity of benzyl benzoate discovered and made by him was tried. This acts as a sedative to muscles of the intestine and is non-irritant to the stomach. Ten drops of a 20 per cent. alcohol solution in water three times a day after meals was the dose administered.

Marked Improvement

To quote from the attending physician's official report, "marked improvement was apparent within 48 hours and one week afterward the leucocytes were 19,600." In time, they had fallen toward the normal and there was a striking improvement in the health of the patient.

There was a slow, steady gain in strength, the appetite grew better, the patient slept well and the spleen and liver reduced in size.

The dose of the benzyl benzoate and benzyl acetate was diminished to half. It is a medicine free from any evil effects and harmless, but is not yet on sale. Commercially the drug is unknown. The method of synthesis can be obtained from Dr. Macht at the pharmacological laboratory of Johns Hopkins University free of all charges.

Leucemia is such a troublesome blood disease that research workers have long sought a chemical to combat it. This makes the new one worth a trial.

Answers to Health Questions.

M. F. B. Q.—How can I get rid of my hair?

A—Wash the hair in acetic acid and water, then brush the hair thoroughly. Repeat this several times on successive nights. Try equal parts acetic acid and water. Wash off with water.

R. O. L. Q.—What can I do for diabetes?

A—The newest treatment for diabetes is to fast in bed two or three days a week until the sugar disappears from the kidney fluids. A doctor must be in attendance, and an analysis must frequently be made of the kidney fluid. Nothing should be taken except a little coffee and whiskey, and simultaneously an analysis of the kidney fluids should be made to see the amount of sugar contained therein. Continue the treatment two or three days each week until the sugar disappears entirely from the kidney fluid. This is known as the Allen test. Food without sugar, to be eaten on the days when the Allen test is not carried out, are: Meats, poultry, game, fish, clear soups, gelatines, eggs, butter, olive oil, coffee, tea and cracked cocoa. Take 10 grains of bicarbonate of soda every four hours.

A. R. L. Q.—Kindly advise me what to do for hay fever?

A—Hay fever is a name of a great group of infections or rather susceptibilities of certain people to the extracts of plants and vegetation. There are a large number of grasses, flowers, rag weeds, fruits and vegetables which at certain seasons of the year, in spring for some people, in autumn for others, make them sneeze, give them watery eyes, asthmatic attacks and other unpleasant disturbances known as hay fever. It is very difficult to find, because of the hay fever victims each one may have a different cause. One may be cured by moving away from the neighborhood of a back lot where weeds grow, while some others must go hundreds and hundreds of miles away from their trouble. There are vaccines now made of the pollen of many of these plants which seem to relieve some persons, but, of course, it depends on locating the precise pollen that fits the particular individual.

A READER. Q.—What can I do for perspiring feet?

A—Bathe the feet in formalin, 1/2 teaspoonful to pint of water. Bathe them each night in warm water wear non-leather shoes and thin hose. Change the latter every morning.

A CONSTANT READER. Q.—What can I do for poison ivy?

A—With a camel's hair brush paint the affected parts with a little fluid extract of grindilla robusta, one part to four parts of water.

Dr. Hirshberg with answers questions for readers of this paper on medical hygiene and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. He cannot always undertake to prescribe or offer advice for individual cases. Where the subject is not of general interest, letters will be answered personally, if a stamped and addressed envelope is enclosed. Address ALL INQUIRIES to Dr. L. K. ## Short Stories of the Buckeye State

WHEN WADE WORKED WITH HIS HANDS

One day when a measure connected with the immigration question was under discussion in the United States senate, Senator Seward referred to the great work done in the building of the Erie canal then the greatest engineering enterprise undertaken in this country, and asked: "Whence came the labor that performed that work? I know but one American citizen who worked with spade and wheelbarrow upon those works. Doubtless there were others, but I know but one, and he, I am glad to say, is a member on this floor—Mr. Wade, of Ohio, and one of our most talented members."

He referred to Senator Benjamin F. Wade. It came about in this way. Mr. Wade was born in Massachusetts in 1800. He was just of age when his father moved to Ohio, and settled near Andover, Ashtabula county. For two years he worked helping his father clear his land in summer and teaching school in winter. Then he engaged to take a herd of cattle overland to the Philadelphia markets. On this occasion he decided to visit his brother, who was a practicing physician at Albany, N. Y. He walked the entire distance.

His brother induced him to take up the study of medicine with him, but after pursuing the subject some time, he found the profession not to his liking and he decided to abandon it and return to Ohio. He could walk back, but he needed some money to defray his expenses on the way, and it was to earn such expense money that he took employment as a common laborer on the great Erie canal then in process of construction.

Returning to Ohio, he visited another brother, Edward Wade, at Cleveland, who, though younger, had already studied law and been admitted to the bar, and it was there and then that Benjamin who was to become far more famous than either of his already established brothers, decided to take up the law. He was well up toward 30 years of age when he was admitted to the bar and settled down to practice at Jefferson, Ashtabula county.

OUR BED-TIME STORY

FOR TINY TIMES-DEMOCRAT POLKS

When night finally came the men who were keeping Jack and Jane in the cellar lighted some candles. The little light that they shed made the floor and corners of the cellar clearer than the light which had leaked in through the small window during the afternoon. The light from the window had been barely enough to show Jack and Jane the men's faces. By the candle light the children could see that the only things in the cellar were some old empty boxes and kegs. They noticed that the cellar floor was full of little puddles of dirty water. Jack realized that they had escaped getting wet feet by remaining huddled up on one of the big boxes all afternoon.

The walls of the cellar—which was about as big as an ordinary room—were built of stone, Jack noticed. The one little window at one end was the only opening out of the cellar besides the door through which the children had been dropped. Jack, busily trying to think of some way by which he and Jane could run away from their captors, decided that the window wasn't hardly large enough for his head to go through, let alone his whole body.

Now that the sun had gone down a cold damp draught came through the tiny window. It wasn't many minutes before Jack and Jane, dressed lightly as they were, began to shiver.

"We're cold," said Jane timidly, when one of the men looked toward her and Jack. He and the other two men just laughed.

"And hungry," added Jack. The men laughed again at Jack's words. "You'll get something to eat when you get home," said one of the men, as though it was a great joke.

Just about the time Jack and Jane wondered if they would be kept in the cellar all night they heard someone tiptoeing in the room above and a minute later the door through which they had been dropped, opened up, and a man came down the stairs.

It was easy to tell from the quiet way in which the man came into the house and slipped down into the cellar that he was one of the band. When he reached the cellar floor he looked around until he saw the children and then he said something to the men. He talked Italian, so that Jack and Jane hadn't the least idea what he said. When he finished talking, however, the men picked up some bundles that lay near them. These bundles they opened and from them took some children's clothes—the kind the little Italian children wore. The clothes were ragged and dirty.

"Put these clothes on," said one of the men in a gruff voice to Jack and Jane. Fear of what lay in store for them now and the dirty appearance of the clothes made Jack and Jane hesitate. Another one of the men stepped over to the box on which they sat and, grabbing each one by the arm, jerked them over near the candle lights and the clothes. "Now hurry up," he said. Copyright, 1919.

A man's

"Let's do the darn job together"

—Ches. Field

WHY is it that more and more smokers (millions now) are getting together with Chesterfields?

First of all, fine tobaccos. Our own buyers in the Orient send us the pick of the finest Turkish varieties (Xanthi, Cavalla, Smyrna and Samsoun). We blend these by a secret method with specially choice Domestic leaf.

This method brings out new qualities of flavor—a smoothness, a richness, a mellowness that go right to the spot. That's the reason Chesterfields satisfy.

And remember—"Satisfy" is Chesterfield's secret, based on our own private formula, which cannot be copied.

Every package has a moisture-proof wrapping—another reason for Chesterfield's unchanging quality of flavor.

CINCINNATI SYMPHONY

The opening evening concert of the Cincinnati Music Club was a huge success, when the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra was heard here at Memorial Hall. Lima showed its appreciation of music when society attended in gala dress. This is practically the first artist concert heard for almost a year, and the keen music loving populace always alert for the best in everything flocked to the Memorial Hall, where a more pleasing concert was never given.

The opening number, the "Marche Heroique," by Saint-Saens, was superb, and at once all recognized the worth and ability of the wonderful company of artists, for each man with the symphony is indeed a true artist.

The famous conductor, Eugene Ysaye, was at his best. Handel's "Largo," with incidental violin solo by Emil Heermann, concert master, was very pretty, and gave great opportunity to hear a musician of excellent talent.

The "Sylvia," Suite, by Debussy called forth much applause, and was one of the prettiest numbers of the evening.

The next club matinee will be an organ recital by Charles Heinrich, Carnegie Institute, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, at Trinity church, Thursday afternoon, November 12th at 2:30 o'clock.

Condensed Classic Series

The Lima Times' Fascinating Fiction Feature

TODAY—"Thaddeus of Warsaw," by Jane Porter.
TOMORROW—"Our Mutual Friend," by Charles Dickens.

PORTER

Jane Porter, British novelist, was born at Durham in 1776. Her life and literary reputation were closely linked with those of her sister, Anna Maria Porter, novelist, and her brother, Sir Robert Ker Porter, painter and traveller. After their father's death in 1779, their mother removed to Edinburgh, where the children, as they grew older, had their love of romance stimulated by association with Flora Macdonald and the young Walter Scott. The sister, Anna Maria, published a long series of works during the years between 1797 and 1830; but in the meantime, Jane Porter, "whose intellectual power, though slower of development, and in expression, was greater than her sister's," published her first work "Thaddeus of Warsaw" (1803), which gained for her an immediate popularity. It was translated into several languages, and won for the author of the election as canoness of the Teutonic order of St. Joachim.

Some years before the appearance of Scott's "Waverley," Jane Porter attempted the national romance in her "Scottish Chiefs." The story of Wallace had been a great favorite with her since childhood; and the poem of "Blind Harry" (Henry the Minstrel) was doubtless well-known to her. The book lacked historical accuracy and she made the figure of Wallace a rather sentimental conception of the character; yet her picturesque power of narration saved the story from oblivion.

Miss Porter's later works include "The Pastor's Fireside," "Duke Christian of Lunenburg," "Coming Out" and "The Field of Forty Foot-steps." She wrote in conjunction with her sister "Tales Round a Winter Hearth." She wrote also some plays and made frequent contributions to current periodicals.

Miss Porter joined her brother in Russia for a time, but at his death she returned to England to reside with her eldest brother at Bristol, where she died on the 24th of May, 1850.

"THADDEUS OF WARSAW"

By JANE PORTER
(Condensation by Miss Sara Ware Bassett)

With the Great War in which Poland has won her freedom still fresh in our memory, we re-read with renewed interest the old time classic "Thaddeus of Warsaw."

The story takes place at that grim era of history when the little kingdom of Poland was attacked by Russia and Austria, and having been defeated under the leadership of Kosciuszko was forced to sign the ignominious treaty of partition that gave her territory to the conquerors and wiped her name from off the roll of free nations. From that date until this Poland, as an independent country, has not existed.

Jane Porter lived when the shadow of this cruel tragedy still darkened the world and she penned her romance of "Thaddeus" only nine years after Kosciuszko had been taken captive and while he was the idol of the hour.

The noble house of Sobieski was intensely patriotic and its loyalty to the ruling monarch, Stanislaus, led not only the palatine but his grandson, Thaddeus, into the fray. It was the young man's first glimpse of war and we see him and his grandfather setting forth to battle in the highest of spirits. Before the boy leaves home his mother, the Countess Therese, presents him with a miniature of his father whom he had previously supposed to be dead; and a letter from which he learns that his unknown parent was an Englishman named Sackville who, while a guest at "Villanow," the Sobieski estate married Therese and afterward deserted her. Since his mysterious disappearance nothing has ever been heard of him. In the meantime Thaddeus has been brought up under the name of Sobieski and has given his word never to assume any other.

The discovery that he is of English parentage is a happy one for our hero's best friend, Pembroke Somerset, is also an Englishman. While travelling through Russia for a holiday Pembroke, for the mere adventure of it, has been persuaded to take up arms against Poland; and would have perished miserably when wounded in battle had he not fallen into the hands of young Sobieski who from an impulse of pity saves his life and takes him back to "Villanow." Here the stranger is welcomed with all kindness, and so winning in his personality that he speedily becomes a second son in the home.

When summoned to return to England he parts from his Polish hosts with keenest regrets, and with the eager plea that when the war is over Thaddeus shall visit him in London.

That Poland will be the winner in the present struggle, and a victorious peace soon be concluded when the friends shall be reunited neither doubts. But no such fortunate result comes out of the war. Instead the Polish army is set upon at every point by superior numbers. One stronghold after another falls. Kosciuszko is taken prisoner; and at length in order to prevent the slaughter of an entire people the King surrenders and agrees to sign a treaty of partition.

It is a terrible day for Thaddeus Sobieski. Wounded, he tries in vain to rally his followers. It is useless. The Cossacks rush forward in pursuit of the vanquished army, swarming after their prey. Thaddeus is compelled to retire and as with his few retainers, he retreats toward "Villanow" he comes upon the dead body of his grandfather who has been killed in the combat. There is, however, scant time to mourn this overwhelming loss. Hurriedly young Sobieski presses on to his castle where the women of his household are defenceless. Here he finds his mother wasted by illness and even while he lingers to protect her she dies in his arms. Further delay is certain death. If he is to escape with his life he must flee. As he mounts his horse and gallops away the foe storms the redoubts for him but to say farewell to his native land and an exile, hasten his flight to England. All his property is gone. The riches the family possessed have been sacrificed to aid in equipping the Polish army. In consequence young Thaddeus leaves home carrying with him nothing but the few trinkets he chances to have upon his person.

One hope, however, cheers him in his loneliness and despair. He will soon be with Pembroke Somerset, and no longer be friendless and alone. During the turmoil of the past few months he has mislaid Pembroke's address, to be sure; and in addition no letters from England have reached him, but these facts he explains away as a result of the chaos in which he has been living. It never occurs to him to doubt the loyalty or affection of the Englishman.

On reaching London Thaddeus goes at once to a hotel planning to stay there only until he can discover the whereabouts of his friend, but on finding the charges beyond the scope of his meagre purse he is forced to take cheaper lodgings with a kindly woman he encounters in the street. Fortunately, this worthy soul proves herself a true Samaritan for on reaching her house Thaddeus, overcome by the strain through which he has passed, at once falls ill and but for the care of his faithful nurse would have died. As it is he slowly recovers and in order to meet the expenses of his sickness is driven to pawn almost every treasure he owns. On the heels of this misfortune the child of Mrs. Robson, his good landlady dies and since she has no money to defray the bills of physician and undertaker Thaddeus, or Mr. Constantine as he now styles himself, assumes them. In the meantime the refugee secures the address of Pembroke Somerset and writes him two letters; but much to his grief these are returned unanswered. He even meets his former comrade on the street and the Englishman passes him by. What choice has Sobieski but to believe Pembroke a fair weather friend who scorns his defeat and poverty, and has ceased to cherish any further regard for him? The discovery is a cruel blow to his faith in humankind.

Life now begins in deadly earnest for our hero.

While he is still without money a beloved old general from the Polish army—a man whom he had pledged the King he would always befriend, comes to him in want and illness. Thaddeus takes him into his lodgings and tries to nurse him back to health. The young nobleman's financial condition is now desperate. He pawns what scanty possessions remain to him. But he must do more. He makes some drawings and sells them. Still he has not money enough to support himself and General Butzon.

It is just when he reaches the end of his resources that he meets Lady Timemouth, a rich Londoner, who becomes interested in him and suggests that he teach the languages to a group of her friends.

Thaddeus is only too glad to accept this means of earning a livelihood but the result of the venture is not altogether fortunate since two of his pupils at once fall in love with him and do not hesitate to tell him so. One is Lady Sur Ross who is ready as a husband; and the other is the foolish and sentimental Euphemia Dundas. The forwardness and patronage of these women of fashion disgusts Mr. Constantine. Nevertheless he is penniless and cannot afford to cast aside the position. Hence it taxes all his wit to maintain his dignity and his honor as a gentleman.

Yet his path is not entirely without sunlight for at the Dundas residence he has the good fortune to meet Lady Mary Beaufort, a charming heiress who is a cousin of Pembroke Somerset's and as good as she is rich.

Of course Thaddeus falls deeply in love with her and she with him. During his acquaintance with these many English people all of them have suspected that Mr. Constantine is something more than an impecunious teacher of languages, and they try to make him reveal his identity. Had he yielded to their wishes he would no longer have been without friends for England is ringing not only with the fame of Kosciuszko but also with the fame of brave and dauntless Sobieski. But Thaddeus is too modest to thus court recognition. He will stand upon his present merits or not at all. Therefore when General Butzon dies and Mr. Constantine is unable to pay for his burial he is arrested for debt and borne away to Newgate.

Did ever hero endure such a chapter of calamities? From his dilemma Mary Beaufort rescues him, imploring her cousin Pembroke to go to the jail and release the unfortunate foreigner. Pembroke, however, believes the stranger to be an imposter and therefore instead of going himself sends a messenger with the money. Had he gone he would at last have met Thaddeus face to face.

Nevertheless such a meeting cannot be avoided indefinitely. Lady Timemouth is an old friend of the Somerset family and at her house the two men finally confront one another. On recognizing his friend Pembroke is filled with joy and immediately reproaches Thaddeus for never having searched him out. It is then that Sobieski tells him of the letters that have been returned to him Pembroke is puzzled. He admits however, that his father has always cherished a hatred for Poland and forbidden his son ever to visit that country. Hence Pembroke has never told him of his stay with the Sobieski family.

But having now discovered Thaddeus the young Englishman confesses everything to his father, and begs him to welcome to his home the Polish noble who has saved his life. Sir Robert Somerset flies into a passion. He tries to every means in his power to break up the friendship. ship.

Then it develops that years before Sir Robert, under the assumed name of Sackville, went on a journey to Poland and while there met Therese Sobieski whom he married and basely deserted. What wonder that ever since he has lived in the constant dread of being overtaken by some native of the land of his crime; or that he shrinks from beholding the son who has sit in his power to blazon abroad his shame, and denounce the present heir to the Somerset estates as illegitimate? It is an ugly tangle but the author touches it lightly and straightens it out with a gentleness Sir Robert Somerset little deserves.

Thaddeus is glad to be the Englishman's son and the brother to Pembroke Somerset. Since however, he has pledged his word never to forfeit the name of Sobieski he must retain it; he also prefers to keep his parentage a secret; nor will he put forth any claim to the property that Pembroke is to inherit.

Just why the Poland fails to resent the treatment Sir Robert has accorded his mother is a point Jane Porter glides pleasantly over. The youth is given a fortune by his titled father, marries Lady Mary Beaufort, and becomes an English gentleman.

The book is spirited and interesting but it is of that sentimental school of old-time novelists who brings us to the realization that standards have shifted very vitally since the days when continual tears, swoons and faintings were deemed a necessary and desirable accomplishment of heroes and heroines.

BEGIN HOT WATER DRINKING IF YOU DON'T FEEL RIGHT

Says glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast washes out poisons.

If you wake up with a bad taste, bad breath and tongue is coated; if your head is aching; if what you eat sours and forms acid in stomach, or you are bilious, constipated, nervous, sallow and can't get feeling just right, begin inside bathing. Drink before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will flush the poisons and toxins from stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and cleanse, sweeten and purify the entire alimentary tract. Do your inside bathing immediately upon arising in the morning to wash out of the system all the previous day's poisonous waste, gases and sour bile before eating more food.

To feel like young folks feel: like you felt before your blood and muscles became loaded with body impurities, get from your pharmacist a quarter pound of limestone phosphate, which is inexpensive and almost tasteless.

Men and women who are usually constipated, bilious, headachy or have any stomach disorder should begin this inside bathing before breakfast.

IMPORTANT CHANGES IMMINENT IN THE REALM OF THE INDEPENDENT BLOUSE

Advance Models Give Preference to Basques and Hip-Band Types—Artistic Blending of Nature Colorings Frequently Featured in Separate Models—

Irish Lace Springs into Vogue after Several Seasons of Quiescence—Hand Embroidery on Cotton Waists Built in Advance for Winter Resorts—

Some Designs Theatrical, Others Oriental in Character—Skirts and Neckwear Influenced by New Blouse Styles.

By MAUDE HALL
FASHION has borrowed the simple blouse of European peasant and developed it into a thing of exquisite beauty. Like every other mode that has gained a substantial place in the world of dress, each season brings its change. Creative genius must give new expression to unfolding ideas and variety must have a hearing.

The dominant feature of the new season's blouses is the prominence given to basques and hip-band types. The long, straight overblouse, the peasant prototype, is yielding its way to something more artistic, though nothing of the comfort of the former is sacrificed.

There is much discussion about the use of heavier materials in the development of the separate blouse, but the controversy will wage long and seriously before a decision is reached.

Many women think that a one-piece dress is preferable to a skirt and waist of heavy material, perhaps in contrasting colors, while others contend that the novelty is worth while simply because it is different. In the meantime designers go on creating sheer waists, among the newest of which are some delightful hand-embroidered cottons for wear at the Winter resorts a few months hence.

There are beautiful blendings of nature colorings in several of the latest offerings. At this season when there are so many lovely golden browns and yellows, it is remarkable to see how they are combined with various shades of red. There is originality in the design of a blouse of leaf brown georgette figured with a splashy pattern in yellow and red. The fronts are gathered at the shoulders, the backs coming forward to form a yoke effect. Long sleeves are gathered into deep cuffs of plain brown georgette to correspond with a surprise collar. The lower edges of the waist front are extended so that they can be tied at one side in sash effect. Balls of red, yellow and brown beads finish the ends of the sash.

Separate blouses of tricolette trimmed with soft collars and vestees of lace are exceedingly good-looking and entirely new. A dark blue model with round neck and vest formed of ecru net frills is worth mentioning. The net frills are piped with blue silk thread, while a blue velvet ribbon bow trims the front at the neck. Full gathered sleeves held in by self-cuffs finished with net frills give a particularly soft effect to the blouse. Light, fluffy feminine styles in tricolored neckwear and vestee offerings are what is demanded this season. The ecru and cream shades are in greatest demand, though white is good and always becoming. It is preferred by women whose complexions are a light brown. Combinations of the two are excellent, as cream and white or ecru and white. Some of the most desirable vestees are of the last kind, of net or lace, with color touches. One might cite a vest with up and down tuck clusters striped with insertion. It is long, with rounded lower part, collar attached and accompanied by a belt effect of henna fallie ribbon one and a half inches wide, one loop drawn through the other and each bowed smartly at the sides.

Of subdued tone that takes it out of the class of high shades is a tomato-colored blouse of chiffon cloth. It fastens in the back with buttons of self-material, the round neck being finished with just an accordion plaited fill of plain net drawn through the top with a black velvet ribbon. The full sleeves are gathered at the wrists and tied also with black velvet ribbon. It is worn with a skirt of black tricolette made with a straight tunic mounted above three straight bands of self-material.

Irish lace is employed in the decoration of many handsome blouses and there is a probability that women will take to the crocheting of this trim thing as they have taken to fling flit. There are patterns that can be made with little trouble, and a complicated Irish is not necessary to smart effect.

Two-piece Skirt Trimmed with Bands of Self-Material Among Smart New Models.

At every season of the year the sign requires 4½ yards 38-inch or 4½ yards 44-inch material. Without the bands, it can be made from 3 3/8 yards or 36 or 44-inch material.

One pleasant feature about the skirt is the absence of seams, although the trimming is composed of girdle and likewise laid along the lengthwise fold, as shown in the guide. The back bands are cut the same as the front ones.

Join the girdle as notched, to make the skirt, leaving left side seam free above the lower large "O" perforation in front girdle and finish edges above the perforation for a placket. Gather upper edge of skirt between "T" perforations. Adjust the stay to position underneath skirt with double small "oo" perforation at upper edge of stay at centerfront and large "O" perforations at center-back. than ever this year, interest is acerbated in skirts. They are made of satin, taffeta serge, broadcloth, the fibre satins, pailettes and sports silks. Nothing could be more practical for the design shown here, however, than dark blue men's wear serge, which is always dressy. The skirt is a two-piece model, gathered at the waistline and trimmed with six bands of self-material. The bands are left free at the sides. In medium size the de-

AT THE REGENT.

"Checkers," the famous racing melodrama has been made into a motion picture by William Fox, and will be seen at the Regent Theatre starting today. The picture directed by R. L. Stanto, is a main attraction with most realistic

"Checkers" is the main character in the play. He is a reformed race-track tout who falls in love with a Southern beauty and gets into the most thrilling adventures. How the boy Remorse wins the big stakes, how Checkers risks his life many times, and how he finally overcomes all obstacles, is told, it is said, with an elaboration of detail which makes "Checkers" one of the most absorbing photoplays presented this season. "Checkers" is especially suitable for the motion pictures, for it contains many elaborate outdoor scenes that can be accurately observed on the screen.

Mr. Fox, it is said, has given the picture a most lavish production with an all-star cast which includes Thomas J. Carrigan, Jean Acker, Helen Cassity, Peggy Worth, Bertie Merburgh, Tommy Young, Lu Hedgwick and Robert Elliott.

FAUROT—ENID BENNETT

For weird and unusual lighting effects, Thomas H. Ince's latest Paramount picture, "The Haunted Bedroom," at the Faurot will establish a precedent in moving pictures.

In this story which features Enid Bennett the residents of Whispering Oaks believe a ghost is haunting an old mansion. It becomes the duty of a young newspaper girl to ferret out the mystery for her paper. Herein is the demand for dramatic lights and to get the effects desired a corps of six electricians was continuously employed during the filming.

There is absolutely nothing supernatural about the picture and no ghostly terrors. There is not an inch of screen concerning the disappearing act that is not satisfactorily explained to the spectator.

The Faurot's program also includes the Pathe News and Mack Bennett's new comedy, "The Dentist." Last time, tonight.

"THE BIRD OF PARADISE"

The Bird of Paradise, the play that deals with life on the Hawaiian Islands, those beautiful Pacific Ocean possessions of Uncle Sam will be seen at the Faurot, next Thursday night.

Produced by Oliver Morosco eight years ago, Richard Walton Tully's remarkable drama is now in its third year of unabated success and seems destined to run for many months as long as the paying public will patronize it. The reason for the hold on the public taste is its exotic atmosphere, its self-sufficiency, its story of love and the fascinating Hawaiian melodies which are interwoven into the drama. The play is a story of the Hawaiian Islands as they are and the American influence as it is. It is not only picturesque but thrilling. Florence Rockwell will be seen in the title role.

FAUROT—TILLIE

"TILLIE," the new and successful four act comedy which brings that charming and talented actress, Patricia Collinge back to this city, is a comedy founded upon one of the most popular of her earlier roles. The curious types in the play are said to have been drawn with wonderful cleverness and the dramatists have preserved all of this quaint atmosphere of the locale. Miss Collinge is best remembered for her charming portrayal of the role of the glad girl in "Pollyanna," a part that has endeared her to all theatregoers. Her management, Messrs. Klaw & Erlanger and George C. Tyler have surrounded her with a very strong company of players, and are said to have given the comedy a most unusual and artistic production. The name part fits this dainty and clever actress particularly well giving a performance of the title role that is said to be well high flawless. Miss Collinge in "TILLIE" comes to the Faurot next Friday night.

ORPHEUM

Those who fail to attend the Orpheum at the matinee this afternoon or the two shows tonight are going to miss a genuine treat—undisputedly the most delightful program of vaudeville and miniature musical comedy that has been presented at the Market street playhouse thus far this season. For after the second show tonight all of the acts with the exception of the miniature musical comedy company that is an all week offering will depart for other cities, and tomorrow matinee there will be a complete change of program. Even the offering of the musical comedy company will be different for the last half of the week.

The miniature musical comedy is offered by "The Beauty Revue," a merry company of the prettiest youngest most bewitching little ladies who have visited the Orpheum in many a day. They are headed by Will and Charlie Byrne the celebrated character comedians. All of the songs, dances, costumes, scenery, stage settings and comedy situations are entirely different from anything seen at the Orpheum before. The extravaganza is clean and wholesome and irresistibly funny and enjoyable throughout.

Folsom and Brown are an extra added attraction on this program for the first half of the week. Brown is one of the leading song writers and composers of musical comedy in America. Miss Folsom is an adorable and talented young woman and she sings divinely. All of the material used by Miss Folsom and Brown are of the latter's own writing.

Ward and Dooley present "A Little Bit of Everything" dipping into almost every branch of entertainment for their material. This act opens the show and those who tarry on the way, arrive late and miss it are going to miss a genuine treat. The act is staged magnificently. Logan, Dunn and Hazel, third on the program, are a genuine hit, presenting an entirely new assortment of amusement which completely banishes dull care.

Mowatt and Mullen are a pleasing couple—a man and a girl—who have an eccentric comedy turn original song, dance and dialogue and who are one of the biggest hits of the bill.

There is an irresistible attraction to what might be termed the "Home" type of girl. There are many other types of young womanhood, each with their own particular and individual appeal but there is no one type that so generally captivates as the one with thought of whom a man immediately associates thoughts of domesticity and the one of which a woman thinks as to the kind of a woman she would like to be. Such a girl is Nancy Price and as personified by Elaine Hammerstein the character is secondary in interest only to the emotional reactions that come to her life when spurred by her ingrained determination to interfere always in the cause of right. She becomes the central figure in a story typical of American life in day.

FARMER VICTIM OF HUNTING ACCIDENT

VAN WERT, Oct. 29.—James K. Mason, aged nineteen years, a married man, who lives on the Burrell farm, in Hoaglin township, was the victim of a hunting accident. Mr. Mason set a shot gun butt down and the load was accidentally discharged, the charge striking his left arm, between the wrist and elbow. The shot played a hole through the arm and tore away a section of the smaller bone. Dr. L. P. Jackson was called to administer surgical attention. Mason was brought to the Van Wert County Hospital, to-day.

Alvah L. Swander, aged forty-five, a well known farmer of East of Chubbuck, died at his home when an angry bear gored him severing a large artery in his right leg just above the knee. Returning from Ft. Wayne late in the afternoon Mr. Swander went into the barnyard to do the evening chores. There were no witnesses to the fatal encounter but it is supposed that the bear escaped from its pen in the barnyard and attacked the farmer as soon as he entered the enclosure, probably carrying him off his feet by the force of its first attack. He was dead when members of the family found him lying along the barnyard fence with his right leg badly gored above the knee and a pool of blood plainly indicating that the hemorrhage from the severed artery was the cause of death.

The members of the petit jury will meet Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock for the first time in the present term of court. The case to be presented to them is Charles Bowen against the director general of the railroads, an action resulting from the destroying by fire of some timber belonging to Bowen and alleged to have been caused by sparks from a passing engine.

TELEGRAPHERS MEET.
ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 29.—Twenty-one general chairmen of the order of Railway Telegraphers in session here believe a strike vote should be taken in the Chicago district to enforce approximately five cents an hour wage increase award made last December by former Director General of Railroads William C. McAdoo, according to a statement today by E. J. Mannon, president of the order. Mannon said he would authorize the vote if the chairman requested it, but counseled moderation.

SOUTHERN CONVENTION.
CINCINNATI, Oct. 28.—H. H. Merick, of Chicago, president of the Mississippi Valley Association today was the chief speaker at the one day convention of Zone Five of the association. The purpose of the association is the promotion of domestic and foreign trade interests and to free the mid-west from the trade convention of the eastern seaboard by encouraging the opening of southern ports.

LIMA CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO HOLD GIANT CELEBRATION

Officials Say Festivities Friday Night Will Surpass All.

PLANS NOT PUBLIC

Come Early and Stay Late Is Advice Of W. H. Clark.

The Halloween celebration to be held in Lima is to be the biggest thing in this section of the state, said Walter Clark, secretary of the Lima Chamber of Commerce, Wednesday in a statement in which he urged all people from the rural districts who can possibly reach Lima to make every effort to attend. "It is expected to have one of the largest crowds ever gathered in the city," he said.

"This is the first Halloween celebration held here in three years," he continued, "and we expect all the pent up energy accumulating during that time to be turned loose in one grand display of weird and fantastic enjoyment."

The festivities will commence promptly at 7 o'clock in the public square, where no automobiles will be permitted to park on that evening and the entire square will be given over to the Halloween celebration.

Secretary Clark stated the committee will not make public the program for the evening as it is intended to spring a big surprise. A great celebration is in preparation, however, and everybody is requested to come early and be prepared to stay late.

SERIOUS SMASH-UP NARROWLY AVERTED

Commissioner James Mackenzie driving a Stutz car collided with a Dodge truck belonging to the Stump Grocery, at Washington and North streets early Wednesday morning, causing considerable damage to both cars and injuring E. W. Scott, the driver of the Stutz car, according to Scott's statement.

Scott stated, he was going south on Washington street at a moderate rate of speed when he saw the approaching Stutz going east on North street. He stated he was looking west for any approaching vehicles when he was struck by the Mackenzie car, jolting him up considerably and bruising his shoulder to such an extent that he is unable to be at his work.

According to Scott's statement both fenders and one wheel were knocked off the car he was driving by the impact of the collision.

Commissioner Mackenzie could not be reached for his version of the affair as he was out of the city.

Areas of swamp land greater than the States of Rhode Island and Connecticut have been reclaimed in Florida by draining.

OIL TO BE FUEL FOR BRITISH SHIPS

Nation Hopes Thus to Win Back Place in Maritime World.

LONDON.—England hopes to win back her predominant place in the shipping world through oil burning steamships, which will be far more economical to operate than coal burning vessels. Quietly and unobtrusively all the big steamship companies in this country are converting their fleets to oil burners. The increased cost of British coal is a further incentive.

The change is the most radical since the steamship supplanted the sailing vessel and the fast clippers of the late '60s.

Here's the economy: The Mauretania, England's largest steamship, is a coal burner requiring 312 coal trimmers and stokers; a ship of the same size burning oil would need but 22 men, and not only give the ship more efficiency, but, what's more important, more cargo space.

It requires about two months to change a coal burning ship into an oil burner, if the necessary machinery is available.

The shipping companies are devoting their capital, brains and energy to restoring their former prestige and they hope to ride to success on a wave of oil.

The revelations of Admiral Lord Fisher as to the necessity of oil burning or internal combustion engines for all warships, which themselves must be capable of diving and operating submerged, has brought the oil engine for warships to an acute point.

Admiral Fisher says coal burning wooden ships of a hundred years ago in any future war.

The discovery of both high oil and petroleum, the latter in Derbyshire and the former in Norfolk, will be a great aid to this country in the future in maintenance of the most powerful war fleet and commercial ships.

EIGHTEEN MEN ARE ENTOMBED IN MINE

ALLIANCE, O., Oct. 29.—Word which reached Alliance shortly after noon today from Amsterdam, Ohio, 10 miles south of this city, stated that eighteen men were entombed in the Y. & O. coal mine there and in danger of being killed owing to a fire which was reported as raging in the mine. Only meagre details were obtainable.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 29.—The state mine rescue car left Columbus in a special train shortly after noon today for Amsterdam, Ohio, where eighteen miners were reported entombed in a mine that is on fire. The train has been given a clear right of way and should reach New Amsterdam about five o'clock this evening.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 29.—The strike order of the United Mine Workers effective Friday, midnight stands. ## ORPHEUS FOUR ARE TO OPEN COURSE

The first number of the season of the lecture course given by the students of Central high school, for the purpose of raising funds to pay chase a new moving picture machine for the school, will be held this evening at the high school auditorium. The Orpheus Four, a quartette consisting of four young men, who not only sing, but play the piano and strangled instruments is the feature this evening.

This same quartette was one of the big features of the Col-Alber chautauqua that was here in August, and the many persons who had the pleasure of hearing them then, will be glad of an opportunity to hear them again. Both single admissions and season tickets will be sold at the entrance.

COAL SHORTAGE IS BECOMING SERIOUS

Notice has been received by local coal dealers from mine operators that until after some settlement has been reached in regard to the proposed miners strike, November 1, no coal will be shipped or orders filled by them. Likewise coal dealers were notified several days ago, that coal cars belonging to them, and left standing in the railroad yards, for longer than 24 hours after their arrival, would be taken over by the railroad for their own use.

Although coal has been steadily rising little by little for some months no large increase in view of the strike has been announced, or notice received by local dealers. Since early spring coal has raised from $1 to $1.40 per ton, but the increase has been very gradual. Coal which dealers bought in February for $2.85 is now selling for $4.25 and $4.50, the raise being but a small amount at a time.

BE CAREFUL OF DREAD DISEASES

Although there are quite a number of scarlet fever and diphtheria cases in various sections of the city at the present time, the condition is by no means serious. Persons in homes where patients and residents are under quarantine are urged to take all necessary precaution, and it is doubtful if the diseases will spread. One death, that of a young man 25 years of age has been reported, caused by typhoid fever. An examination is being conducted by health authorities to determine the cause of the typhoid.

The regular bi-monthly meeting of the board of health will be held Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the mayor's office. Several matters of public interest will be discussed at this meeting.

There Is One of Two Choices to Be Made
---Burkhardt and Safety---Blank and Danger

Nothing is more menacing than Socialism; nothing more costly than failure resulting from inexperience, and nothing more reassuring in the solution of the problems of the future than the application of the wisdom and knowledge which come out of the experiences of the past, where a capable man is available.

That is the test one would make in the conduct of his own affairs.

Frank Burkhardt is a capable man; he is an honest man. When he is Mayor of Lima he will direct the affairs of the city in a capable, clean-cut manner. He is a working man himself, and he knows what the workingman wants--a business-like administration of city affairs, with economy as the watchword, and the progress of Lima as the main idea, always.

Harley is eliminated. Lima wants to be forever rid of the republican gang that has infested Lima for years. Harley has no chance. A vote for him is thrown away.

In Omaha mob violence recently flourished. Which do you want in Lima—Safety and sanity, or radicalism and its encouragement to lawlessness of that character?

SEND THE WORD BROADCAST

LIMA WILL BECOME THE MECCA FOR RADICALS
FROM ALL OVER THE COUNTRY, WHO WILL GATHER HERE.

Your property will immediately be depreciated in value; every one who owns a home in Lima will lose a part of his property rights; Lima's future growth will be set back at least 10 years in two.

IT ISN'T A QUESTION OF REPUBLICANISM OR DEMOCRACY; IT IS A QUESTION OF SANITY AND GOOD GOVERNMENT; OF THE FUTURE OF LIMA AND THE GOOD NAME OF THE CITY.

Remember that in casting your vote next Tuesday you are deciding a momentous question; remember that if you vote for a Socialist as a "protest" you are likening yourself to the man who burned down his barn to get rid of the mosquitoes therein.

All The Live Dope
Just As It HappensHOT STOVE LEAGUE HAS GOTTEN DOWN TO BUSINESSMany Large Deals Are Being Made by the Lads Who Sit Around the Fire and Tell How To Run Teams

(BY JAMES F. BURBA)

Along about this time of the year, baseball fans, who have nothing else to do, gang up in certain localities, and see who can tell the biggest lie about teams and players. Some of the lies are good ones, and make interesting reading matter. A few of the rumors emitting from one of the Hot Stove meetings do come to pass, and then the "I told you so" boys are hot on the job. It's a little early in the season yet for real dope to come from the winter league, but within the new few weeks, it will keep four men and a busy hunting up the source of various information received.

About the most important item that has been sent forth by the hot stove league this season, and which concerns Lima, is the story about a new league being formed in which Lima will have a berth. The story was blazoned across the sport pages of various papers in cities such as Dayton, Springfield, Akron, and right here in Lima. Then, blooey, like the famous Humpty Dumpty, it went broke, and we heard nothing more. Yet, only a few days ago we heard the echo, and now we are sprung eternal in the human breasts of Lima fans.

Not that we would not like to see a league enter this city, for we would. It would be mighty fine to put Lima on the baseball map, and we will gladly use all our influence to do it. But we are of the belief that will never come to pass until Lima has grown quite a bit more.

Then, from the hot stove gossip Ruth is asking $20,000 a year for his services next season. That's awfully nice, and we hope the babe gets it. However, we are willing to bet a plugged dime against the hole in a doughnut, that if Ruth is given that salary, he will not bat anywhere near his present average. Remember the famous Kelly and O'Toole battery that Pirates purchased from St. Paul?

However, the hottest dope received, and by far the most ludicrous is—Pat Duncan is not sure of a regular berth with the Reds next season. Now the lad who thought that up has the imagination of a cub reporter. When Hughie Jennings asks waivers on Cobb, there is possibility of Moran turning the young star left-fielder loose.

They say, Everett Scott has been traded to a western American League club. Very indignantly, Mr. Scott denies this rumor, and at the same time states the Red Sox are good enough for him. Fred Luden, who set a world's record for consecutive games with the Phillies has been slated for release. Even if he has, we declare he deserves it.

With the Trotters

J. W. Johnson, the Greenville, O., trainer, will be short a campaigner for next season as had counted on, as Rex Wilkes 2:14 1-4, died the past week as a result of pneumonia. He was owned by J. H. Menke, of Richmond, Indiana, and had raced well the past season, winning his last four races. Menke had refused an offer of $2,000 for the horse, which took sick during the Ottawa Fair, owing to the continuous rains.

The diminutive pacer, J. W. S. 2:05 1-4, by J. W. G. 2:13 1-4, closed his season at Cleveland with a winning effort and stepped three miles around 2:10 over the Rockport track. He goes into winter storage in A1 condition and should be a good performer in the fast pace.

CREATING WIDESPREAD INTEREST

The Hunter Drug Company is featuring the new and remarkable preparation known as Nuxite, which experts assert is the most powerful medicine, and the best medicine made for building up weak, half-sick people and fortifying their systems against complications following sickness, from overwork and worry.

Through hundreds of tests of the most exact character, it has been proved beyond a doubt that by its use thousands of persons can rebuild their strength, vitality and nerve-force and regain their lost weight, hearty appetite, rich red blood and robust health.

The results of these tests in each case indicated how easily one may keep the system toned up and invigorated and the vitality built up to high pitch, through the use of a good powerful tonic acting directly on the system.

If every man and woman, and their children take a good tonic and give thought to health now, the chances are ten to one that they will not be sick at all this winter, regardless of whether the influenza or any other disease rages throughout the country or not, according to W. R. Cooper, the Nuxite Specialist, who is making his headquarters at Hunter's Public Square Drug Store.

"Whole families here in Lima are heeding the warning, and increasing their disease-resisting vitality against a possible recurrence of the influenza," he continued. "The report of three hundred cases in one city—the warning of the United States Government, and many others, prove the wisdom of following their course. With this new powerful tonic, Nuxite, weak, nervous, run-down, thin and half-sick people get back on their feet quickly. Summer coughs, colds, bronchial and catarrhal troubles, lack of color, boils, pimples, and so forth indicate a poor condition of the blood. It is reasonable to expect that people suffering from these troubles will be down in bed this winter from one cause or another."

Nuxite is made of the finest ingredients obtainable in one of the largest and greatest laboratories in America. Its remarkable formula is a result of years of study and experimentation, and is perfectly balanced, so as to secure the best possible results in all cases, in which its use is indicated. Scores of people from Lima and surrounding towns have been calling on Mr. Cooper at Hunter's Public Square Drug Store, to see what this new preparation looks like, how it is taken, and what may be accomplished by its use.

OIL COMPANIES ARE FACING CHARGES
BEFORE U. S. BOARD

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 29.—Fourteen oil companies are involved in a hearing before the federal trade commission which opened today in the federal building. The commission is seeking to compel the oil companies to desist from leasing gasoline pumps and tanks to retail dealers at rentals which will not yield them a reasonable return on their investment, or to enter into agreements with dealers providing that they shall not dispense from tanks and pumps so leased, gasoline of competing companies.

The companies charged with this infraction of federal trade commission regulations are: Ohio Cities Gas Company, Columbus Oil Company, and the Independent Distilling Company, all of Columbus; White Star Oil Company, of Eaton; Paragon Refining Company, of Toledo; Standard Oil Company, of Cleveland; Carbonless Oil Company, of Kenton; Canfield Oil Company, of Cleveland; Farnley Oil Company, of Akron; Lutz-White Oil Company, Inc., of Lima; Springfield Oil Products Company, of Springfield; Lutz-White Oil Company, of Cleveland; Refiners Oil Company, of Dayton; and the Motor Fuel and Lubricating Company of Portsmouth.

The basis of complaint in the charges is that smaller companies financially unable to loan, rent or lease tanks at a loss as the bigger companies do, are unable to compete with them in the sale of gasoline.

STUDENTS WILL
HONOR BOLENFriday Will Be Home-Coming—Ada Hi To Play
Delphos.

ADA, O., Oct. 29.—Graduates and former students of Ohio Northern University will return here next Friday to pay special honor to Coach Charles "Shifty" Bolen and Coach Fred Turner, both old Ohio State stars, and to attend the Wooster-Ohio Northern football game. Friday is to be the annual homecoming of all students.

Northern's gridgers have been having some difficulty this year in winning, but the entire squad expects to go into the Wooster trip with the determination of beating Wooster. It will be their first home game of the conference schedule.

ADA AT DELPHOS

Ada High School will go to Delphos next Saturday to play the high school squad of that place. The local team is facing a defeat as Eckendorfer, Lonas and Anspach, all back field men, are with the national guard company doing strike duty at Canton.

PACKING HOUSE ECONOMY

The by-products obtained in the packing house industry may be divided into two classes—the edible and the inedible. The inedible constitute the external covering (hair, horns, hoofs and hides), some of the offal, and the bones. In the manufacture of buttons, combs, knife handles and spindles from the horns and hoofs of cattle and sheep and the hoofs of hogs, the waste resulting from the preparation of these articles was at one time thrown away, but it has been found that by treating such material with sulphuric acid the nitrogen which it contains becomes available as a fertilizer.

INCREASING THE SUGAR CROP
A new process has been discovered for the recovery of sucrose from final molasses, which means a gain of at least three and a half per cent in the sugar crop of the Hawaiian Islands.

GANG WORKS SAME OLD GAME ON VOTERS

COL. HARLEY SAYS NOW HE'LL TURN OUT JOB HOLDERS

But What's the Difference, Gang Would Still Be In Power in Lima.

CAMOUFLAGE AGAIN

But Voters Are Going To Set Whole Gang Out In The Street This Time.

Beaten on every side, whipped to a frazzle and trying to put out some eleventh-hour promise that might yet keep them in power, the republican gang, which has held Lima in its clutches for the past four years, last night played their trump card.

Colonel John Harley, driven to the wall, announced with a flourish of trumpets that he would not re-appoint Cap. Gale and Al McHeany, present occupants of city hall, against whom the voters of the city have a particular political score to pay.

Of course everyone in Lima has known for a week that the play was going to be made. At the beginning of the campaign when Harley had a chance to be elected he refused to say to a faction of his party that City Hall would be cleaned out.

It is well known that "Cap." Gale and Frank Downing, leading lights of the gang, brought the pressure to bear that caused the Colonel to enter the race. Harley didn't want it but the other members of the gang, of which he has long been a member, forced him in.

A great big wing of the G. O. P. "had it in" for Gale and the lesser lights because they wanted Carl Rowlands to be the party candidate. Rowlands had everything cut and dried, but at the eleventh hour the gang "framed him," served notice on him that he would have to get off the track and Carl got!

Now the gang comes back, flicks Carl's boots and promises him things in the future (which they will promptly forget on November 5th) and whips him into line, APPARENTLY! But the whole world knows that the Rowlands following, beaten out of their best chance, are going to knife Harley at the polls.

Statement a Boomerang. Harley's statement was a boomerang. Last week council cut down the salaries of the safety and service directors, knowing that Gale and McHeany would not be brought back to warm the chairs in their present offices, and now as a grandstand play Harley makes the announcement that he won't appoint "em!

NO, BUT SOME OTHER MEMBERS OF THE GANG WILL GET THE TWO JOBS IF HARLEY IS ELECTED—BUT HE WON'T BE!

The people of Lima are fully determined to sweep the entire gang into the discard. They are going to use the Burkhardt broom to do it with.

Play is a Joke. Harley's eleventh-hour play is a great joke—upon any voter who may feel like changing his ballot now. For with the gang it's "heads we win, tails the voters lose."

If McHeany and Gale are sent down the long, long trail, in will come some other gangsters and the old bunch will still control the city, body and soul.

The gang organ will set up a cry of "corporation" against anyone who opposes, the hooligans will start out with their cry of "Harley or Socialism," and the same old gang will be worked.

It's a great game, boys, if you don't weaken. Fool the public, keep the gang on the inside at whatever cost, and let the taxpayers be—

That's the gang idea and they are playing it to a frazzle in this campaign. Two years ago the democrats, many of them, fell for the "Simpson or Socialism" gag.

THIS YEAR THE DEMOCRATS ARE GOING TO VOTE FOR THEIR CANDIDATE TO A MAN, and they are going to add to their vote about half of the republican voters, who are sick and tired of gang rule, which gives them no look in.

SURE "CAP." AND AL WILL NOT BE RE-APPOINTED—but some other members of the gang will if Harley is elected. But they needn't make any plans to throw up any other jobs to take the places, for the GANG IS GOING TO GET WHAT IS COMING TO IT NEXT TUESDAY and poor John Harley, inveigled into the race by "Cap." and Frank, is going to be made the "goat" for the gang.

FARMERS OPERATE MANY ELEVATORS

A large increase in farmers' elevators in Ohio is reported by H. E. Erdman, of the Department of Rural Economics, Ohio State university, who has been studying the farmers' elevator movement in Ohio during the past few years. At present there are probably more than 200 companies in operation in Ohio, representing an increase of about 100 per cent during the past year. The increase in number is due to the dividends paid into the farmers' hands rather than to the grain dealers, according to Mr. Erdman. Other reasons given for the increase are the general organizing system of farmers and the necessity for cutting out the middlemen's profits.

Some of these companies do a large business annually, a few amounting to between $400,000 and $500,000. A number of the companies have increased their capitalization during the last year and many of the newer companies are starting out with a capitalization of from $10,000 to $50,000.

For Good Roads. "The condition of the West street road has cost the merchants of Lima thousands of dollars," said Schleich, "in business diverted to Delphos or centers with good roads leading to them." "It will be a crime, both from the standpoint of the farmer and the merchants of the city if the two mill levy fails to pass," he said.

President R. B. Dunn, expressed the sentiments of the association in regard to the levy by urging every member to conduct an advertising campaign from now until the time of the election. It was also urged that every member get his automobile out for the good-roads parade Friday.

Shopping Week Set. It was announced that the first week in December will be set apart as early shopping week and an effort will be made to have all merchandise on display at that time, to encourage the Christmas shopper to come early and reduce the congestion of eleventh hour Christmas shoppers to a minimum.

Lynn Revenaugh, Secretary of the Ohio Retail Dry Goods Association and Secretary of the Columbus Merchants' Association addressed the gathering on the work of the Merchants' Protective Association in Columbus. Revenaugh revealed the methods of various kinds of crooks in defrauding the merchant, and the protective association's methods of detecting and punishing them. Revenaugh's talk was highly interesting but the work of the protective association is more applicable to a city the size of Columbus than in Lima, where there is not such need for its services, members of the association claim.

RETAIL MERCHANTS ORGANIZATION IS LAUDED BY FARMER

John Schleich Says Association Bridges Great Chasm.

BOOSTS GOOD ROADS

Lynn Revenaugh Tells How Columbus Merchants Fight Crooks.

"The city business man and the farmer must get together in a closer understanding," said John Schleich, a farmer of West Cairo, who was principal speaker at the monthly meeting of the Retail Merchants' Association held at Hotel Norval, Tuesday evening. Schleich was for 16 years a business man in Omaha and understands the situation from the point of the business man as well as the farmer.

The merchants association was handled by Schleich, who started chasm existing between the city man and the farmer is greatly lessened by such organizations, as the farmer feels that its members are the cream of the business men and people from whom he can expect a square deal. He suggested that a sign of membership in the association placed on display in places of business would tend to increase the confidence and trade of rural customers.

Says, Advertise. Schleich said there are hundreds of farmers buying merchandise from mail order houses at an average of 20 per cent higher than the same merchandise is sold in the stores of Lima, merely because the local merchant does not advertise his article sufficiently, and the farmer does not know he has it.

For Good Roads. "The condition of the West street road has cost the merchants of Lima thousands of dollars," said Schleich, "in business diverted to Delphos or centers with good roads leading to them." "It will be a crime, both from the standpoint of the farmer and the merchants of the city if the two mill levy fails to pass," he said.

SOCIAL SERVICE CLUB TO MERGE INTO Y. W. C. A.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Social Service Club held in the Young Women's Christian Association Club and Recreation Center Monday evening, it was voted unanimously to go into the Young Women's Christian Association soon to be organized here, as the Social Service Club of the new organization.

The aim of the Club since its beginning more than eight years ago, has been a Young Women's Christian Association in Lima. That organization does character building work rather than rescue work, and we realize that the best social service done, is preventive.

For the past two and a half years, under our present Welfare Worker, Mrs. Julia Simpson, we have worked chiefly along Young Women's Christian Association lines. This has been to look after the strange girls coming into the city, the lonely or unfortunate woman, the deserted wife, or the girl who simply needed a friend. We have aimed to help them find good positions, proper environment in rooming or boarding, and the right kind of friends. Through the rooms maintained by the Club for nearly two years in the Metropolitan block, we feel good work was done; but since merging with the Young Women's Christian Association Club Recreation Center last spring, our opportunity for service has become much greater. Between 1500 and 1800 girls use the rooms weekly.

We are confident that the scope of the work will be much wider when a real Young Women's Christian Association is organized here, and therefore as a Club we wish to go on record as heartily endorsing such a project which will connect Lima with this great international movement to help womankind.

ALLEN COUNCIL FOR GOOD ROADS WAGING STRENUOUS EFFORT

Enthusiastic Meeting Was Held At Hume Tuesday Night.

SCHLEICH IS BOOSTER

Will Deliver Address Wednesday Night At Gomer.

It was a very enthusiastic gathering Tuesday night in Hume to which J. A. Rusler, former deputy county auditor, explained the two mill levy proposal for the purpose of road improvements, which will be submitted to voters at the election next Tuesday. Mr. Rusler spoke in behalf of the Allen County Council of the Ohio Good Roads Federation, and was ably assisted by Joe Hartline, one of the most ardent workers in the local council.

Just what benefit the farmers of that community may hope to procure from the passage of this proposal was cited by Mr. Rusler. He told them how much nearer it would bring the tiller of the soil to community centers and cities. The most important part of his address centered around the cost of the project. He showed where the farmer may secure good roads which will benefit him greatly at a cost far below what the average corporation or large business man must pay.

John Schleich, who was to speak to a gathering in Gomer, was unable to deliver the talk owing to a previous engagement to speak before Lima Retail Merchants' Association which met Tuesday night. However, Mr. Schleich took the best of an opportunity, and asked all merchants to get behind the proposal and push, explaining to them the benefits they would derive from good roads in Allen county. Mr. Schleich will speak at Gomer Wednesday evening.

George Bayley and Samuel Roeder will address a gathering in the Bath Township house, Wednesday, while H. O. Bentley will explain the proposal at a meeting in Bluffton, M. Austin Potter will speak in behalf of the two mill levy at West Carlo, Wednesday evening, and R. B. Dunn and W. C. Bradley will address a gathering in the Perry township house.

Thursday evening, L. E. Ludwig will talk to a gathering in Delphos, while Joe Hartline and James Morton will endeavor to persuade the folk of Spencerville and Spencer township to put their shoulder to the wheel and push. Lehr Miller will speak at Conant, and Eugene Lippincott at Beaverdam.

Hundreds of persons, interested in good roads, viewed the film which was shown at the Regent theater Wednesday noon. An effort to hold the film over until Thursday proved futile, as it is the only one of its kind the federation has, and is being displayed in only the larger cities.

The condition of roads in various counties in the state were depicted, and just what great inconvenience is caused by them. It also showed many roads that have been improved by activities of the federation.

AVIATOR BARTLEY THRILLS ALL LIMA

Shortly before noon Wednesday, citizens of Lima were thrilled by Bob Bartley, daring, diminutive aviator, who walked upon the wings of the giant Canadian Curtiss plane as it toured about the city. Bartley, after allowing the people to marvel at his gameness in walking upon the wings stood on his hands, and then climbed in and out the delicate frame work.

Several times Lieut. Logan Case, who was piloting the machine, allowed the plane to come so near to the house tops that you could almost see the expressions on the aviators' faces. Persons over the entire city watched the antics of the aviators, and speculated upon just how long they will live.

The aviators left Lima this afternoon for Newark, where they are scheduled to put on an exhibition Halloween day.
